To whom it may concern,

Peter McNally from Trilect Services Ltd has asked me to write a testimonial for his electrical and automation services provided during the refurbishment of a large commercial office conversion at 20 Morgan Street, Newmarket to which I am only too happy to provide.

By way of outline, I had a problem; a run-down 30 room residential lodge that I was pricing for a conversion into offices. I was working to the tightest of budgets and gave Pete a brief of what I wanted to achieve. He came back to me with a price and then said he wanted to sit down and go through all aspects of the job. It was this attention to detail that gave me confidence to proceed with them as the electrical contractor.

During the job I met with Pete (at his request) and went over the logged hours for the job and where there had been some additional works (due to not being able to get into ceiling cavities, block walls that weren't on plans, relocating switch boards etc). Because of this communication I wasn't surprised with a large invoice at the end of the job - I knew where things were throughout, and as per the original quote - additional works aside - the invoice was for exactly the amount quoted.

Trilect's employees all arrive on time, are friendly, immaculately presented and tidy up after themselves, all facets which I can assure you is a rarity in the construction industry.

I couldn't recommend Trilect highly enough for honest, cost effective electrical work. I now use Trilect on all of my properties and recommend them to anyone needing electrical or automation work.

I am more than happy to provide a verbal testimonial if required and can be contacted on:
